Short Biography

I was born in 1992 in a city from western Romania called Arad. Even though I was born in Arad and I have many relatives in Arad county, I consider myself a Timisoara native. Timisoara is another city from western Romania, but most importantly, it is the city where I spent about half of my life. I lived in Timisoara for about 12 years and it is the place where I finished the elementary school and the 9th grade. At the beginning of my sophomore year, me and my family moved to Jacksonville, Florida. In Jacksonville, I finished High School and then I graduated with a B.S. degree in Mathematics from University of North Florida.

Education

I graduated with a B.S. degree in Mathematics from University of North Florida. I also have a minor in physics. Recently I decided to diversify my knowledge and my skills by taking a few web development classes at FSCJ. My informal education mainly consists of reading ancient literature, reading history books, individual math study and searching on the internet various topics.

Professional Experience

For about 2 years I have been working as an independent contractor for Leapforce/Raterlabs. I work as a search engine evaluator. As a search engine evaluator, I must use guidelines provided by the company to evaluate website content for quality, usefulness and relevance to queries issued by users. I also worked on a few short-term projects as a test scorer. As a test scorer, I used guidelines provided by various states to grade student science, math or English papers.
